Considerations when nominating existing priorities or submitting new priorities.

1. Focus on crop-pest combinations with limited control options, but there are potential solutions (Pesticides that control the pest).
2. Focus is on horticultural/minor crops rather than agronomic crops.
3. Focus on solutions that do not currently have a CODEX MRL on that crop.
4. Focus on situations in which currently registered products are causing trade issues or have pest resistance problems.

Discussion of merits of Priorities and Solutions at the Workshop November 2nd

1. Focus on crop-pest combinations with limited control options, but there are potential solutions (Pesticides that control the pest).
2. Focus is on horticultural/minor crops rather than agronomic crops.
3. Focus on solutions that do not currently have a CODEX MRL on that crop.
4. Focus on situations in which currently registered products are causing trade issues or have pest resistance problems.
5. Avoid solutions which are already a company objective.
6. How many solutions are already registered on other crops in the countries seeking access?
7. How many countries do the registrants support a registration and label?
8. Are there residue data for any solutions already available that only require only a few trials to complete a submission package?
9. Are there sufficient, robust efficacy data available and applicable to all interested countries?
10. Is the solution a newer more effective product that will replace older chemistry and make it through dietary risk.

- Do these represent sufficient grounds to justify a change in the rankings?
